- A simple meta-heuristic specialized in constrained optimization is developed.

- The developed method can solve real, integer and mixed-integer constrained problems.

- State-of-the-art results are achieved on constrained engineering design problems.

- Twenty of the best methods found in the literature are compared.

- Several nonparametric statistical tests are performed.